Global Product Manager for Strangvac

We have an exciting new opportunity for a Global Product Manager for our lead product Strangvac® – a vaccine that promises to be a game changer in the fight against the equine disease Strangles.

Strangvac® is expected to be launched commercially in Europe during the summer of 2021. As Global Product Manager, you will have the overall strategic responsibility of successfully launching Strangvac® as well as the further development of Intervacc's equine portfolio. You will collaborate closely with both internal and external stakeholders in our overall mission to provide this safe, efficacious and easy-to-administer equine vaccine to the global market.

Read more and apply here

Date Created
2020-10-02