Intervacc’s distribution partner Dechra launches Strangvac in Spain, Portugal and Slovenia

Intervacc AB (publ) announces today that its European distribution partner, Dechra Pharmaceuticals PLC (“Dechra”), is launching Strangvac® in Spain, Portugal and Slovenia. Vials of the vaccine against the highly contagious bacterial equine disease strangles are expected to be available for delivery in these markets shortly.

"Strangvac® is approved for sale and marketing in the EU as well as in the United Kingdom and Norway, and has been launched in Sweden, Denmark, Finland, the United Kingdom, France, Germany, Belgium, the Netherlands, Austria, Ireland, Poland, Italy and now also in Spain, Portugal and Slovenia. These launches are important steps for the continued market development. Strangles is a serious and contagious disease affecting the equine industry throughout Europe. By offering a vaccine developed using innovative technology and based on fused recombinant proteins, we contribute to improved animal health,” says Jonas Sohlman, CEO of Intervacc.
